

ALEXANDRIA.

FRIDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 22.

WISK MEN are few; but there are probably fewer of them among the prominent men of this, than of any other country on the face of the globe. At yesterday's session of the Pan-American Congress in Washington, one of the delegates from the United States, Mr. Henderson, of Missouri, introduced a resolution welcoming the republic of Brazil into the sisterhood of free governments, and said he should hail with pleasure news of revolutions in Spain, England or Russia, or any other foreign country. Of course the Congress realized at once, not only the absurdity, but the gross impropriety of such a resolution, and laid it on the table. In the first place, the commercial congress had nothing to do with the political conditions of governments; in the second, the Emperor of Brezil was only deposed a week ago, and may be called back next week; and in the third, another international congress was also in session in Washington, in which Spain, England and Russia, and other foreign governments were represented, the delegates from which were informed by Mr. Henderson that he would welcome news of revolutions in their countries. Something is the matter with Mr. Henderson. It was thought so when he and Mr. Parsons, on their own book, went to England last summer to settle the Virginia debt, and now It is known.

PRIVATE PHILLIPS has had to follow his corporal, Tanner, into retirement. He was chief of a division under Tanner the bold, and rerated his own pension to the extent of many thousands of the Treasury's loot. Unfortunately for Phillips, the pressure upon the President for his removal by the rich bankers of the North, who saw the Treasury surplus being dissipated in that way, instead of coming into their pockets, was so great that he had to "go." But he carried his loot with him, all the same, and was not made to refund, as poor Senator Manderson had to do. A nominal attempt will be made to force all the other government employees to disgorge their improperly rerated pensions, but as the plumder has been concealed and placed where it will do the most good to the possessors thereof, of course, and as expected by those who ordered it, the result of that altempt can only be

THE NEGROES now being tried in the U S court in Baltimore for mutiny and murder on the island of Navassa, were all natives of this country and were engaged here and shipped there to work in the gnano beds. They were born and raised, as their parents were, under the improving influences of civilization and christianity. And yet it only required the removal of the dread of the law for them to relapse into the most brutal abyes of causeless, savage, cruel and reckless barbarity. Their murderous crimes, as narrate i by themselves, equal any ever committed by their uncivilized and heathen cousins in the African jungles. Their animosity, too, was neither predisposed nor excited by the fact that their victims belonged to the race that once owned them or their fathers, for some of them were northern men, but was simply and solely the result of race prejudice among ignorant and foolish people.

POSTMASTER GENERAL WANAMAKER not only used the visit of the Pan-American Congress to Philadelphia as an advertising dodge for his store in that city, but still pursues the members of that Congress. Since they returned to Washington he has presented each of them with gorgeously decorated boxes, containing advertisements of his store, with the unique request that they will include the latter in the reports they shall make to their respective governments. Mr. Wanamaker is a gift to the country; but it should not be forgotten that Mr. Harrison is the giver. The United States have long been the ridicule of European governments; such a Postmaster General as Mr. Wansmaker will make them the laughing stock of all the foreign countries on this side of the Atlantic.

DURING A debate in the British parliament, last Wednesday, Sir Henry James said the flight of Patrick Eagan was proof of his guilt, but that there was stronger evidence of the fact of his complicity in the famous Phasix Park murders. The charge that Mr. Eagan was appointed U.S. Minister to Chili because he deserted the demo cratic party and used his influence for Mr. Harrison at the last Presidential election, has never been satisfactorily denied, and the at that man, old, excellent Irish republican citizens were overlooked in order that he, a fugitive from justice, might have a place, does not in the least tend to disprove that charge.

AT A negro meeting in Washington last night, called to make arrangements for a visit to the President for the purpose of requesting him to recommend to Congress federal supervision of State elections in the South, one of the Speakers, Purlies by name, said "if there were more colored secret so cieties in the country several cities would be in ashes before many hours rolled by." Well, bulldozing or not, there is no reasonable doubt of the fact that thirty-nine on the bare back would do that negro a great deal of good.

attorney there to interfere with matters of which their State has sole control, that official sends a long letter to the Attorney General at Washington, calling for U.S. troops in Texas, and Mr. Miller, the man who removed a judge because his decisions were not in accordance with the policy of Mr. Harrison, takes great delight in giving that letter to republican newspapers. So it goes,

FROM WASHINGTON.

[Special Correspondence of the Alexs. Gazzrra] WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 22, 1889. There is a rumor affoat here to the effect that as soon as the U.S. House of Representatives shall be called to order by the old clerk next Monday week, a resolution will be introduced for admitting all the con-testants from Virginia, West Virginia and Maryland at once upon prima facie evidence, and without referring their cases to the elections committee. The republicans say they have a precedent for such action in the 25th Congress, when the contestants from New Jersey were so admitted. But that was no precedent at all, as in that case both sets of applicants for admission had certificates of election, one signed by the Governor and the other by the Secretary of the State, while in the present case the contestants have no certificates from any body.

A democratic politician from Richmond here to-day, says the dispatch published in some of the morning papers about the vote of Virginia at the recent election is mislead-ing. He says that while the aggregate vote was fourteen thousand less than that cast at the Presidential election, the democratic vote was ten thousand more, and the repub lican vote thirty thousand less.

Among the strangers at the Capitol today was General Joe Johnston. The General pounds more than 134 bushels of oats. is quite an old man now, but though he doesn't walk as rapidly or as firmly as in his more youthful age, he is as erect as ever ing representative men of the North a comand does not use a cane. The General, as plimentary tour through their own countries, nearly all the other reputable Virginians and have drawn up an itinerary. here are, is greatly delighted at the large by which General Mahone was recently de'eated in his State, and when told that his letter to the GAZETTE before the election had changed the opinion of some Virginians respecting the General's "pluckiness" in the war between the States, and might have he ped to increase that majority, he replied that nothing was required to in crease that majority as the people had de termined to make it large.

Rev. Mr. Newman, one of Mahone's negro preachers, who during the recent cam-paign frequently went to Virginia to preach and speak for the success of Mahone and his ticket, is in jail near this city for selling whiskey illegally.

Among the strangers here to-day are ex Congressman Mayo, and U. S. Marshal Watts of the western district of Virginia, both republicans and both of whom supported Gen. Mahone at the late election. former says he never had any hope of the General's election, and that if the thirty thousand names stricken from the poll books had been untouched the General would still have been defeated. Col. Mayo said the white people of Virginia, the young men more than the old ones, and his own son among the number, have gotten it into their heads that a republican majority in the State means negro domination, that that idea is bound to stay, and that as long as it does the democrats will have control of the State. With regard to the purging of the registration books, he says it was done according to law, and that there was little or no fraud in his district on election day, and never has been much. He says the question of negro suffrage in the South is a very serious one, and that the 14th amendment to the Constitution is unconstitutional, as the southern States, which the U.S. Supreme Court has decided were never out of the Union, were not represented in Congress when that amendment was passed by that body, but that while it might probably be better for the southern people to lose some of their congressional and electoral representation by denying the negroes the privilege of voting, he doubts whether the southern democrate would be willing to submit to that loss. Marshals Watts says he agrees with Gen. Mahone that thirty thousand republican votes were stricken from the registration books, but could not explain how the remaining thirteen thousand democratic majority could be for, so far, at least, as his county, faz well, concerned, for there was no cheating there, he says, on election day.

Secretary Blaine denies the report publiebed in some of the papers to the effect that the State Department had instructed its minister to Brazil to recognize the revolutionary government of that country. The Secretary doubtless thinks that what Mr. Henderson did in the Pan-American Congrees yesterday in the direction referred to. was sufficient.

Marriage in Leesburg.

Is noticing the marriage of Miss Mary G. Wildman, daughter of Mr. John W. Wildman, of Leesburg, and Mr. Arthur Hoeber, a promising young artist of New York, here tofore mentioned in the GAZETTE, the Loudoun Mirror says

"The chancel of the church had been tastefully trimmed by the ready hands of the bride's many friends, with chrysanthe mums, violets and smilax, the whole being brought into strong relief by the dark background of great folisge plants, making the effect a pretty one. Some time before the ceremony the church began to fill and by the time the bridal party entered, at 12:30 o'clock, it was crowded. Messrs. Harry Barret, of Baltimore, Arthur Shee z, of burg, Howard Scribner, of Philadelphia, and Mr. John B. Wildman, brother of the bride, of Baltimore, acted as ushers, and in pairs preceded the bride to the altar, where she was met by the groom who was atten 1ed by his brother, Mr. Clarence Hoeber, as best man, and taken from her brother, Mr. Robert B. Wildman, upon whose arm she entered the church. Within the rail stood the Rev. R. T. Davis, who proceeded in his usual impressive manner to perform the holy ceremony. The bride was attired in a strikingly becoming tailor made traveling black, and carried an immense bunch of lovely violets. The groom wore black coat and vest and grey trouvers, and in his lapel party passed up the left aisle of the church to the sweet notes of Mendelsshon's melo dious wedding march, perfectly rendered by Mrs. H. O. Clagett, upon the organ, all eyes were turned upon the fair bride, who. in her delicate beauty never appeared more lovely. At the head of the aisle, just where it joins the circle of the chancel, was a double arched gate of white chrysanthe mums, which, as the party reached it, swung lightly open, admitting them and signify. ing the passage of the bride from the life of maiden to that of wife. "At the conclusion of the ceremony, throughout which the organ shed the soul of sweet music, the party passed from the church by the right aisle, the bride and groom leading. After the hurried congratulations of numerous friends and relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Hoeber drove to the W. O. & W. station, where they took the 1 o'clock train, for a tour, after which they will reside in New York city. The best wishes of a host of friends of the newly wedded couple go with them for a long and happy married life,"

Killed by a Woman.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 -At 10 o'clock this morning Stephen Paltus, one of the Brooklyn bridge trustees, was shot and killed in front of 10 Fulton street, by Hannah South worth, 30 years old. She refused to give her residence. Peters's body was removed to the Old Slip station. Just before ten o'clock while Falton street was crowded with people a young woman wearing a sealskin sacque was seen hurrying along behind a well dressed man wearing a derby hat. When in front of No. 19, she pulled a large revolver from beneath her dress and fired five shots in quick succession at the man in front of her, although he fell at the first shot. In fact the woman continued firing until every chamber of the revoluer was emptied. As the victim writhed and tossed in agony on the sidewalk, the woman looking calm and self possesed actually smiled with apparent satisfaction. In a short time a great crowd had gathered, attracted to the spot by repeated pistol firing. An officer also made a rush for the place. His first impulse was to take the smoking pistol from the woman's hand. When she saw the officer coming, raising herself to her fall height and assum ing a somewhat dramatic position, she hissed out between her teeth, pointing at the lifeless body on the sidewalk the while. That man betrayed me and I have shot him. He has ruined me and my family.' Taking the woman by the arm the officer led her to a side street. Finally they reached the O'd Slip station house where the woman gave her name as Hannah Southworth; that she was thirty years of age, but she persisted in refusing to give her resi dence. To the sergeant she repeated the statement that the dead man had betrayed her and ruined her family. Then the woman was locked up. During this trying ordeal Miss Southworth never winced. but on the contrary appeared to become if possible more calm and dignified.

An examination of Peltus' body shows that all five of the bullets had taken effect Three bulletts had lodged in his back, one in his neck and one in his right side. Either one of the bullets would have caused death Hannah Southworth is the woman who at tacked Mr. Peltus in front of the elevated railway office, Brooklyn, about a year ago. She was arrested at the time and taken before the late Judge Walsh, who placed her under bonds to keep the peace.

A Sad Story.

DES MOINES, Is., Nov. 22 .- A very sad story has come to light in Sloux City. Yesterday, on which was to have been his wedding day, E. Perry was declared insane. Two years ago Perry bade his affianced good bye and left for Wisconsin to join a party of railroad surveyors, hoping to earn enough money to secure his expectant bride a home. He had bought property and a final payment hung over a clear title. He expected to return with the money necessary to secure his property from debt and enough to celebrate his marriage. A few weeks ago he with others of the party in trusted the collection of the greater part of his earnings to one of the party who was delegated to go to Minneapolis and bring back the wages. But the fellow, after se curing the money, in the neighborhood of $10,000 decamped, and Perry had to return to Sioux City pennilees. Last Sunday evening he was visiting at the home of his betrothed. His misfortune preyed upon his mind and in the presence of the girl he had hoped to wed his reason left him. He became a violent maniac, and on the day set for his wedding he was carried away raving to the asylum at Clarinda.
